

Cairo Paper Says CIA Is Plotting Arab Domination

CAIRO (AP) — The Government-owned newspaper Al-Gumhurriya charged yesterday that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is trying to "dominate Egypt and the whole Arab world."

The paper said the CIA was planting "rumors and inventing jokes against the state" and that it had "plotted the assassination of nationalist leaders in every field."

It did not identify the leaders. "No intelligence service, even the American one ... can overthrow a deep-rooted regime backed by the people as is the case in Egypt," Al-Gumhurriya declared.

The government last week arrested a leading Cairo editor, Mustafa Amin, and said he was working for the CIA. It charged that Burce Taylor Odell, a political officer at the U.S. Embassy, was a CIA man to whom Amin passed information.

Odell returned to the United States last weekend. The embassy said he went for consultations and that the Egyptian Government had not asked him to leave.
